

CAMPBELL LEE LAUNCHES “INTERNET SOLUTIONS” AND WEST OF SCOTLAND’S SINGLEST LARGEST DATA CENTRE

From within its Glasgow Data Centre, Campbell Lee plc Group, launches its fourth subsidiary company this month (May), Campbell Lee Internet Solutions.

Eddy Yacoubian, MD of ‘ Internet Solutions, launches the company following six months of building a team and investing in the necessary infrastructure to support the largest facility of its type in West-Central Scotland.

Yacoubian believes that there is a major gap to be filled for the type of services being offered by the new company.

“Internet Solutions is a range of hosting and outsourcing services for businesses who take the internet seriously. We are not an ISP, in terms of a “stack ‘em high” approach, but a facility that enables companies of any size to tailor their requirements for web-based systems and managed services. These services range from websites to email serving to mission critical business applications and managing servers.

“It is impossible to predict the future right now, but we can be confident in growth. Our new business has a major role to play in expanding our company. We know from our own experience that our investment may offer a unique advantage to our Group and that it requires a seven figure investment for others to follow. We have committed early and believe that the interest we have received over the last six months, will reap a return ahead of our initial forecasts. Already we have interest from the Entrepreneurial and Venture Capital sector of our industry and we are well placed to use our facilities and skills as a Technology Partner in some exciting new internet based initiatives, all from within established businesses.

Our initial hopes of over 100 new jobs from this venture remains. It is encouraging to take an empty building and within a six month period see over 20 people based in the Data Centre, building new skills and innovative services.
